Montgomery County ADAMHS Receives System of Excellence Certification

Montgomery County Alcohol, Drug Addiction & Mental Health Services (ADAMHS) has received the highest level of recognition possible due to the diligent work of its staff and volunteers. The Culture of Quality certification is awarded by the Ohio Association of County Behavioral Health Authorities (OACBHA) to county Boards administering increased accountability and consistent standards that advance the behavioral health system.

Based on a continuous quality improvement model, ADAMHS met, or exceeded, nearly all of the 142 standards identified as quality practices. The certification is valid for a period of three years.

“The ADAMHS Board has worked very hard to offer a more efficient, effective and accountable system that is responsive to the citizens of this county when they need addiction and mental health services,” said Executive Director Helen Jones-Kelley. “Quality practices are critical for making it easier for consumers to access services.”

Montgomery County is one of only 12 Ohio counties to receive certification in 2014. There are 24 Boards in Ohio that are Culture of Quality certified by OACBHA.
